

Psychological Research Examples

Teacher Name: _____

Student Name: _____

CATEGORY	Exceeds Expectations	Meets Expectations	Approaches Expectations	Below Expectations
Research Method #1	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Significant detail is given which demonstrates a thorough understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Solid detail is given which demonstrates an acceptable understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected but it's tie-in to psychology is difficult to find. OR Some detail is given which demonstrates a weak knowledge of the type of research.	A non-psychological topic is selected. AND Few details are given which demonstrate very little knowledge of the type of research.
Research Method #2	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Significant detail is given which demonstrates a thorough understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Solid detail is given which demonstrates an acceptable understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected but it's tie-in to psychology is difficult to find. OR Some detail is given which demonstrates a weak knowledge of the type of research.	A non-psychological topic is selected. AND Few details are given which demonstrate very little knowledge of the type of research.
Research Method #3	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Significant detail is given which demonstrates a thorough understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Solid detail is given which demonstrates an acceptable understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected but it's tie-in to psychology is difficult to find. OR Some detail is given which demonstrates a weak knowledge of the type of research.	A non-psychological topic is selected. AND Few details are given which demonstrate very little knowledge of the type of research.
Research Method #4	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Significant detail is given which demonstrates a thorough understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Solid detail is given which demonstrates an acceptable understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected but it's tie-in to psychology is difficult to find. OR Some detail is given which demonstrates a weak knowledge of the type of research.	A non-psychological topic is selected. AND Few details are given which demonstrate very little knowledge of the type of research.
Research Method #5	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Significant detail is given which demonstrates a thorough understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected focusing on psychology. Solid detail is given which demonstrates an acceptable understanding of the type of research.	An acceptable topic is selected but it's tie-in to psychology is difficult to find. OR Some detail is given which demonstrates a weak knowledge of the type of research.	A non-psychological topic is selected. AND Few details are given which demonstrate very little knowledge of the type of research.